Strategic Issue Management for Land-grant Universities

Public debate amid rising concerns about food safety, animal welfare, future food and fuel supplies and land use and the effects of carbon on the environment is finding its way to the front door of land-grant university labs, classrooms and extension offices. To better prepare faculty to respond to these issues, this session will open with a discussion of the issues from administrators, provide the latest research on how to best respond to hot-button issues and outline powerful new tools available to help researchers and Extension specialists successfully demonstrate their value by responding to the public debate.
